Project Control (contract, cost and planning)

CMCCO's Project Control service is a combination of three significant areas of project management: Contract, Cost, and Planning Management. For projects that are large-scale, some clients choose project control services since the project scope is not too intricate to require full project management. As the name implies, with these services we provide project control from the initial phases of the project.

This integration of Contract Management, Cost Management and Planning Management Services eases the client from the hassle of managing them and ensures that they are well managed since all of these functions are interrelated. Any variations in any of the project criteria have implications on the others and will require change management procedures that efficiently coordinate these variations. CMCCO, the expert in all of these knowledge areas ensures successful project control limiting any damaging extensions or budget changes.
